long one, December 20th, 1573.

As THE Special Jury List will be shortly revised, the present is a suitable opportunity for calling attention to an alteration in the principle upon which it is based, called for by the change introduced by the recent Ordinance, which permits special juries being summoned on important criminal cases. The Ordinance in question was wanted order to avoid the possibility of juries not of sufficient responsibility being empanuelled in such eases; but it does not necessitate that the jurymen summoned under its provisions, should be of the same class as those who are required for Special Jurors, and as the list of those goutlemen is somewhat limited, the was that he sent Chinese constable No. 201 the new rule entails a considerable amount. of work upon them.

should be selected chiefly from gentlemen of experience and knowledge of business, with monaget the busines, and when he found it, it a view to having the advantage of those who possess skilled knowledge to be applied to the decision of commercial gases of intricacy a u for 49 cash, from the first defendant, and to and importance. But these qualities are not a companying last witness in searching the but, required in the kind of jurors wanted for criminal cases, the importance of which depends upon the magnitude of the crime and the severity of the punishment to follow a conviction, rather than upon the intricacy of the facts to be considered or the principles to be applied. In the one class of cases we require skilled, in the other, responsible jurors, and consequently suitable persons can be found for trying criminal cases of importance without necessarily obtaining them from those who, under the old system, would be marked out by their position, experience, or intelligence as proper persons to be placed upon the Special Jury List." The difficulty which the ordinance for having Special Jurors in criminal cases was meant to overcome was, that when juries were taken from the Common Jury list, it happended at times that perhaps more than hall of them were foreigners, chiefly Portuguese, who did not thoroughly understand English, and were little likely to be able to grasp the nature of a case. If this difficulty be overcome, all that-is required will be obtained. The plan, therefore, which ought to be adopted. would seem to be that there should be two Special Jury Lists, the one for civil suits, as heretofore existing, and the other for important criminal cases. The former should be chosen from gentlemen possessing skilled knowledge the latter from all those who are thoroughly acquainted with the English language, and possess such qualifications as to experience and common sense as will bring them up to the standard of reliable and responsible

This plan would meet the exigencies of the matter in a way which would be fair to al concerned. Those who are called upon to act as Special Jurors may fairly be considered entitled to be relieved of a certain amount of the general, work of juries, as it is only just that if they give their brains in the difficult cases, they should have the advantage of their time, by being exempted from serving in the less intricate proceedings. As matters at present stand, gentlemen on the Special Jury have more than once been detained for days over cases, which did not require any special skill or knowledge, and, unless some such principle as we have above indicated adopted, the new Ordinance must press very heavily upon the Special Jurors, whose numbers are limited, and who are naturally for the most part men in such positions that a claim of the kind upon their time is peculiarly Finland met the waters of the Neva, drove

DESTRUCTION OF FORESTS BY FIRE. The destruction of forests by fire continues says a correspondent of the Levant Herald, to be reported from all parts of Asia Minur. is un ancient but fatal practice with the native peasantry to burn down the woods for the purpose of turning the land into pasture for their cattle. In this way a large forest of pines on. the mountain of Nymph-Dagh was consumed the other day, while in the neighbourhood of Bel-Kairé, near Smyrna; a plantation of 3,000 olive trees has been destroyed, owing to the onrolessness of the country people. In Candia also, lately a large fire has been raging for eleven days among the mountains of the Sphakia and nearly decimated one of the most magnificent forests in the island. It is melanchely to observo that as civilisation advances; coal mines are becoming exhausted and forests are disanpearing. How the world is to get on ultimatel without fuel remains to be seen, but probably it will have to adopt the practice of cuti g raw ment in the absence of any means of kindling a litchen fire. This is, of course, assuming it has my meat left to eat, which, looking at the growdoubtful. (Economist, Oct. 250k.) the Bank of England have raised the rate from ket rate somewhat near to their own rate, by borrowing on stock to us to take the surplus mining out of the market. That operation it is important to observe, does not augment the financial magnitude of the reserve; no appreja paid to it in gold or notes; it is all paid in cheques. These cheques are paid from the bankers' balances, and as they are thereby reduced, the liabilities of the Bank are also reduced, and the proportion of the reserve to the liability is augmented. But the absolute amount of the reserve remains unchanged.

As to the future, the prospects are still very uncertain. The prospect is brighter than when we last wrote, but the change is not much to be relied on, and might at any instant be succeeded by an opposite one. The amount of gold which will go to America still remains very uncertain. A heavy fall in the exchange might be caused at any moment by new failures which shock oredit, but the longer such failures perly imposed, with the most enviser, of Launceston, which shock oredit, but the longer such failures perly imposed, with the most enviser, of Launceston, consider them. > THE CANADIAN PACIFIC SCANDAL The Times observes that the Parliament of the Canadian Dominion which met at Ottawn, is compelled to approach at the very beginning of its legislative labours not one question, but a opened recently, and it is safe to predict that it will be prolonged, acrimunious, and exciting. Mr. Mackenzie, one of the leaders of the Ouposition, has moved an amendment declaring that the conduct of the Ministers in regard to the Pacific Railway investigation, and the evidence therein disclosed, is worthy of the severest censure. The presentation of the report, ulthough it states no conclusive opinion, may perhaps be taken to indicate that the inquiry will henceforward be left under the control of Parliament. Now, at all events. there can be no insignation that the Ministry is attacked unawares. The evidence taken by the Royal Commissioners, embracing so many damuging admissions on the part of Sir John Mac-Donald, Sir Hugh Alian, and all the busy bost of inferior politicians and subordinate capitalists. will supply a fair starting-point for the more scarching investigation which the Dominion Parliament is bound to institute. The Opposition, on their part, even though they may secure a vote condomning Sir John MacDonald's Government in the debate on the Address, cannot, with decent consistency, stop short at that point. If Mr. Huntingdon and his friends really have in their possession the conclusive evidence which, ou constitutional grounds, they declined to lay before the Royal Commission, the time has come for them to produce it There is no longer any excuse for reticence: the incriminated Ministers and public men must be, once for all, either freed from the odious imputations under which they have rested for months past, or branded as guilty of showeful laxity in political morals. BEST EVIDENCE. (Pall Mall Gasetle.) It is a maxim of legal procedure that the "best evidence" obtainable on any particular point shall be laid before the court; but it FLOWERS, certainly seems that this maxim may in certain instances be carried too far. At Worshipstreet police-court the other day Dr. Sarvis, medical officer of health for the parish of Bethaul-green, accompanied by a sunitary SASH inspector, came before Mr. Bushby with a quantity of fish, principally haddock, to ask that it, being putrid and unfit for buman food, the be condenned. The medical officer - stated that the fish had been seized that morningent a fish smoker's in the district, and she made affidavit of the fish being putrid. Dr. LAOD, Savis asked if the amgistrate would inspect the fish. Mr. Bushby said that this was not necessary. It appeared, however, that a quantity of the fish as, a sample had been netually brought into court, right in front of the bench; the court being at the time browded to excess by persons, policemen, and others, compelled to attend. Mr. Bushby expressed his great surprise at this being done, and that he was not bound to smell all such articles. He ordered the fish to be removed from the court, which was immediately done, and the order for the destruction of the lish was subsequently made. There certainly seems to be no reason why a magistrate should to compelled to smell every article of food that he condemos, my more than he should be compelled to taste it and were the latter aproies of evidence to be insisted on in every ease, the office of magis-trate would be a hir more disagreeable one than it is at present. PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. And Anglo Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

HOR comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new Sindh Gold Works, Large Table Covers, Small in science generally, which the rapid advance Table Covers, Chair Covers, Couch Covers, of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are Envelope Boxes, Writing Desks. Book Stands, cises for students of a most instructive nature. Albums, Watch Stands, Paper Knives, Large Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accounts being carefully marked on terials; a splendid fit guaranteed. the Best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond BOOTS, WHITE SHIRTS, COLLARS, in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast SCARFS, UNDERSHIRTS, SUCKS, &c. economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vust margine and vuonnt epaces which have beretofore characterized Chinese publications. keep on stock, to solicit orders to be taken by To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the measure.

following facts are submitted for consideration: Chalmers Vocabularly contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medburst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese churacters. Again, despite all the grammar, and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various appli cations and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub-

. For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chi nese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it orplains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally, FIHE HOUSEHOL DOOM PANION It comprises upwards of two thousand large I.
